

17th February 2005

Warehouse management LOGIS-Web of Fablog v installed in Olympic sports warehouse in China

Beijing is already doing an excellent job preparing for 2008. The governmental ministry of sports which is marketing commission as well ordered the installation of LOGIS in the sports warehouse at Fablog. The internet-based version LOGIS-Web was chosen here because the sports warehouses are located at three different sites in Beijing and shall additionally be controlled by the central administration in the center of Beijing.

The installation will be performed during March this year.

LOGIS is the product for warehouse management of Fablog and available in different versions e.g. for automated warehouses, for warehouses with mobile communication and for label-controlled warehouses. Additionally LOGIS is available in four different languages: German, English, Chinese and currently also Russian.